

Super Heros 4 Safety on Twitter:

Jeffrey Shaw of FHWA says:

"There is no simple or single reason to explain why drivers run red-lights" (1)

CivilLiberty101.com says: YES THERE IS!

Drivers run red lights because the FHWA rules force drivers to GUESS AT THE YELLOW LIGHTS!
(& guessing is neither safe nor fair under law.)

Drivers are forced to guess at both time and distance:

- Every yellow light is timed differently!
 - Drivers have no idea how much time is on any given yellow light therefore we are helpless to obey the law
- Every driver has a different perception of both time and distance.
 - This creates conflict between drivers (And "Conflict X Mass X Velocity = Death & Destruction" G.A.Finn)

See CivilLiberty101.com for the solution:

#StopGoLine is a concrete decision point that help driver's to know their rights and responsibilities under the yellow.

Just as lane markers prevent you from guessing at how wide your lane is, a #StopGoLine will prevent drivers from guessing if they should stop or go at the onset of the yellow.

Mark The Braking Distance 18 Wheelers Need

Write to Jeffrey Shaw today (jeffrey.shaw@dot.gov) and tell him to

- 1) SUPPORT CivilLiberty101.com's "#StopGoLine traffic safety plan"
- 2) Declare it a crime when red light camera money is siphoned away from scientific study of this solution!

Source: (1) https://safety.fhwa.dot.gov/intersection/conventional/signalized/rlr/rlr_toolbox/chap1.cfm#prob